Hosting a BBTA Course

BBTA offer a range of courses including:

- Introductory Modules
- Basic and Advanced Courses
- Short Courses for Qualified Therapists
- Short Courses for Band 2-4 therapy staff

If you are considering organising a Basic Bobath or Advanced Course contact the BBTA office at enquiries@bbta.org.uk for further information or look on the website under courses - Basic and Advanced Course information.

If you are considering hosting the BBTA Introductory Modules or a short course either contact the office at enquiries@bbta.org.uk or contact a tutor directly via the emails provided in the members list on the web-site. There is also more information under courses and Introductory Modules on this web-site.

What is required?

Venue – The type of course will influence the venue requirements. For example a theoretical course would require suitable seating and AV equipment. A practical or clinical treatment course would require plinths and other equipment and the availability of suitable space.

Hosting a course is an opportunity to:

- Secure places on courses at a venue of your choice
- Educate and develop your team on a topic of specific interest to you and your colleagues
- Generate income for your department

Tutors are happy to be contacted to discuss options for course content, programme development and will provide all the information you need to enable you to plan a course that will meet your individual needs.
